By NOLAN NORGARD
WITH THE BRITISH 8TH ARMY IN SICILY, Aug. 12.—(AP)—German evacuation of troops and equipment from Sicily to the Italian mainland was reported to be in full swing today with at least 80 vessels plying night and day across the Messina Strait under a record umbrella of anti-aircraft fire which was growing steadily in intensity.

Two Arrested After Robbery Jewelry Store

Two men were arrested and hundreds of dollars worth of jewelry recovered, at 1:20 a.m. Thursday, after a daring smash-and-grab raid on Bert Knowles' jewelry store, 10136 Jasper avenue, which was followed by the firing of a single shot and subsequent close-in fighting. There was considerable traffic along Jasper avenue at the time.

Arrested were Arthur Spry and Danny H. Goodwin, both of whom appeared in city police court on Thursday on charges of shop-breaking.

Not until Goodwin had been sent to hospital was the jewelry store visited and there found the other man, Spry, who had been caught and held by Constable Duff.

Scattered about the streets were rings valued at more than $600. Four cases of rings also were retrieved, their value being placed at more than $50, while two watches, with a value of $62.25, were taken from the store.

One of the watches was found in the possession of Spry, when he was searched at the headquarters.

Effective in the capture of the two burglars were Constable J. J. of the city police, Pte. Leo Sciorra of the P.M.S., and Constable Charles Duff of the R.C.M.P.

Dominion Helps Spend $125,000 On Water System At Dawson Creek

OTTAWA, Aug. 12.—(CP)—The pensions and national health department has been authorized to spend not more than $125,000 in purchasing material and paying for labor in providing a water supply system for Dawson Creek, B.C.

An order-in-council, approving a recommendation of Pension Minister Mackenzie, said that the Dawson Creek civilian population had increased from about 230 to 2,000 in the last several months. The village is at the eastern end of the Athabasca highway.

United States military authorities, who undertake construction of the highway, are building a water supply system of 2,000,000-gallons-a-day capacity for the civilian population. The camps near Dawson Creek are and are prepared to provide water for the village from the system.

The water supply system will be constructed on the understanding the province of British Columbia will construct and finance an adequate sewer disposal system.

Wildcat Well Is Now Producing

WINNIPEG, Aug. 12.—(CP)—The Winnipeg Free Press said today that "seemingly a new oil field has been established in western Canada" by the discovery of a wildcat well, four miles west of Lloydminster, Sask.

Men who have visited the well predict it will be at least one of the largest producers in the Lloydminster-Vermilion field, said the Free Press.

Strong German rear guards, well entrenched with mortars, machine-guns and artillery, and extensive road demolitions continued to make progress slow for the Allied armies converging on Messina and the evacuation beaches while the bulk of the German troops were being withdrawn.

Determined to save all possible equipment, the German command was reported to have decreed that "The passport to Italy is a gun," meaning that troops must bring their weapons along if they want places in the boats at Messina.

STRONG LINE

British forces advancing along the east coast encountered a skeleton enemy force in a strong line covering the only available approach with heavy mortar fire and a battery of possibly 16-80 millimeter guns.

The narrow, winding mountain roads the Germans were defending made it extremely difficult to dislodge them.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 12.—(AP)—In a second amphibious flank attack on the north coast of Sicily, units of the American 7th Army have landed east of Cape Orlando and supporting naval guns have beaten off serious enemy counter-attacks. It was announced today.

The Allied headquarters communique said Cape Orlando was outflanked in the surprise attack Tuesday night.

The "amphibious" first amphibious flanking attack was made three days ago when sea-borne infantry landed at the mouth of the Rosomaro river, three miles east of San Agata, where they were joined by the main forces of the American column after the town's capture.

FACING ENTRAPMENT

The enemy's forces on the Cape presumably faced entrapment. The American 7th Army column was reported to have advanced toward the town.

Friends in time of distress are stronger than metal or stone. Friends in time of distress are stronger than metal or stone.

Through the Chinese War Relief fund in its first annual appeal, Canada from long friends, and the friendship between their peoples has grown ever stronger through these last few years of war against a common enemy.

Contributions of money, to a Dominion-wide objective of $10,000,000 will go to China in the form of hospital and medical supplies, war equipment, and other necessities.

As his special train drew out of the station, Mr. Churchill, smiling, said to the last group of well-wishers in the locality now the track after it. Smiling, the prime minister drew out his gold cigar case, extracted a cigar and tossed it to the group.

Typical scenes in the United States Army's new station hospital are shown in the four pictures above, taken when newspaper representatives were shown through the large installation. Housed in 32 buildings well-separated, the new hospital covers almost 40 acres of ground. In the top left picture, newspaper men are seen examining an X-ray stereoscopic viewer. Two X-ray views of a man's chest are placed in the apparatus, one at either extremity, and the operator looks through a prismatic mirror arrangement between the two films. At the far end of the machine, an X-ray of the lung area may be seen in position. At bottom left, Lt. J. H. Tallmadge, Kalspell, Mont., gets a patient's eye view of some hospital dental equipment. Left in this picture is dental technician Pte. H. J. Epler, Detroit, while at the right, Lt. A. N. Carr, dentist, goes after the cavity. At top right, one of the operating rooms is seen. At the left is Lt. M. C. Strong, Landa, North Dakota, and her sister nurse at the right is Lt. E. M. Larson, Parker's Prairie, Minn. In the centre is Maj. W. T. Joyce, from Scranton, Penn., hospital commandant. Bottom right, X-rays are being taken of a man's chest. Sgt. Harvey Drake, X-ray technician, Los Angeles, is operator, while Pvt. R. LONDON, Aug. 12.—Massive fleets of American Flying Fortresses, about 25 in all, were lost in the three-way smash at Gelsenkirchen, vital industrial centre of the Ruhr, and the neighbouring towns of Bonn and Wesseling, a few miles below Cologne.

Twenty-five of the Boeing Fortresses were lost in the three-way smash at Gelsenkirchen, vital industrial centre of the Ruhr, and the neighbouring towns of Bonn and Wesseling, a few miles below Cologne.

In action for the first time this month, the Fortresses, in very large formations, carried out perhaps the greatest effort of the American air forces in Britain, sweeping by day light over the strongly defended region.

The Ruhr raiders flew at the greatest altitude the Forts yet have used, where the temperature was below zero.

OTTAWA, Aug. 12.—(CP)—Approval of expenditure of $232,500 under an agreement with the British Columbia Fruit Board to assist Okanagan Valley, B.C., fruit growers whose apple market has been affected by the war has been given by order-in-council. It was revealed today. Similar agreements for financial assistance were made in 1939, 1940, 1941 and 1942.

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Red armies drove almost to the outskirts of Kharkov today, cut the next to the last escape railroad and Nazi escape lifeline and narrowed the enemy corridor to the southwest to less than 30 miles.

The semi-circular drive against Kharkov and the northern Ukraine was gaining momentum virtually by the hour and Soviet sources said the capture of Russia's fourth largest city was "in the bag."

The Germans were falling back toward the Dnieper along an 80-mile front from Kharkov to Sumy, abandoning rich booty and hundreds of thousands of tons of wheat left ready for harvesting.

The German hurried first panzer and infantry divisions into battle, several points in a vain effort to stem the tide of the Russian offensive.

Northwest Service Command, United States Army Opens Large $2,000,000 Hospital

By STANLEY WILLIAMS
Latest addition to American military installations in the Edmonton area, the largest United States Army Hospital in the Northwest Service Command is now in operation here. Reported to have cost in the neighborhood of $2,000,000, the hospital will be used by civilian personnel of American contractors in the north, as well as the American Army and Air Forces.

Male or female civilians who are working for the United States government or contractors, will receive free treatment at the institution, but will be required to pay board for the time they spend in hospital.

The new hospital may serve soldiers as far away as the Aleutian Islands, who will be flown from smaller hospitals "up the line" to advanced medical care by specially equipped hospital planes of the same type used in the Tunisian and Sicilian campaigns.

The new medical unit, of the most advanced design, has been under construction since last March. Spread over a 30-acre area near Edmonton airport, the hospital is composed of 3,300 feet of corridor, long, straight-as-a-line passageways, 1,600 feet of them enclosed, and another 1,800 feet open at the sides.

NEVER EXPOSED
The enclosed passages are so placed that patients are never exposed to the open air, no matter what part of the hospital they come from, nor what part they are going to. Indeed, the open air is never seen.

Police State Four Arrested In Rape Case: To Be Charged After Army Privates

Four American army privates were arrested Wednesday afternoon in connection with an alleged rape case involving a 20-year-old Calgary girl who was found in an abandoned automobile at 143 street, early Wednesday morning. Police stated that two of the soldiers were charged with rape, two with indecent assault, and all will be charged with theft of a car.

The girl, Yvonne Deschamps, who arrived in Edmonton Tuesday morning, was said by authorities at the General Hospital to be in a serious condition.

She is said to have gone to a dance hall Tuesday night, after which she was seen by an automobile with the four men, at which time she believed she was being taken into the country. She did not know whether she was attacked inside or outside the car, and that the automobile in which she fell the dance hall was abandoned at 143 street by the men.

The girl was found in the car later by another American soldier, who had her removed to an American base camp, from which she was taken to the General Hospital.

It is stated the girl's home is at Crystal Springs, 60 miles from Prince Albert, and that she was a member of the C.W.A.C. for 16 months, being discharged by the C.W.A.C. on a full-time nursing work.

Sought
Capt. J. W. Stedler, U.S. Army, stated in an interview Thursday morning that American authorities, together with city police, are trying to keep the girl clean in all ways through the cooperation of city and Royal Canadian Mounted Police authorities. That the arrests were made in such a short time.

Rumor 1st Division Rejoining Canuck Army Prior to New Campaign

By R. T. RICHARDSON
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

QUEBEC, Que., Aug. 12.—The impression is strongly held today in circles close to the Allied military conference in Quebec and elsewhere, that the real purpose of calling this United Nations parley unexpectedly was to revise current military plans to prepare an all-out assault on German-held Europe with the intention of ending the war against Germany by defeating Hitler's armies this year.

Observers noted that recently there has been no mention in Sicilian dispatches of the Canadian First Division for a few days, raising the possibility the division has been returned to the army from which it was separated, prior to a new campaign.

Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister of defence, is playing a leading role in the Anglo-Canadian conferences, which continue here today though Churchill has left, apparently to meet Roosevelt somewhere for a week-end talk.

The military character of the conference is unmistakable and the future role of the Canadian Army overseas is apparently to be settled finally this week, if it is not already settled. This will be part apparently of a vast new Allied campaign in which have been concentrating overwhelming forces for operations.

A knockout blow against Germany is expected in the form of a new offensive, news from Russia.

The conference inside the Chateau Frontenac is proceeding at various levels from the chiefs of staff to the lowest ranks who will be entrusted to phases of coming operations.

Churchill Party in United States After Niagara Falls Visit

By HAROLD FAIR
NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 12.—(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill and his daughter, Mary, today visited this border tourist centre and then motored across the lower arch bridge over the Niagara river to Niagara Falls, N.Y. Later the party left Niagara Falls, N.Y., for an unannounced destination.

The prime minister and his daughter, who arrived at Victoria Park station in a six-car special Canadian Pacific Railway train, viewed the falls as before motoring across the river.

They saw the falls, which Mrs. Churchill remained in Quebec. Mrs. Churchill remained in Quebec.

For the British prime minister, it was no new sight but for Mary the falls were new. She had never seen them before. She had never seen them before.

WENT TO FALLS

Mr. Churchill and his party went to the falls directly from the station.

Mr. Churchill, a subaltern in British Auxiliary Territorial Service, was wearing her uniform with two bars and a sword.

She told Mrs. Inglis, wife of the Niagara Falls mayor, that the nearly full of her when she heard she was coming to the falls. She she told the mayor that her mother was rather fond of the confetti to the Canadian Press, that her father had rested well on the overboard train ride.

Miss Churchill chatted for a moment with Lt. Don Baldwin of Winnipeg, Cdn. Constabulary

side, the explained to him that she had two patches on her uniform her sisters devoted their careers to an anti-aircraft battery.

A few minutes later Mr. Churchill made his appearance and the small crowd cheered. Wearing a grey fedora, a light grey summer suit with cuffs on the trousers, he with the inevitable cigar in his mouth and carried a cane. As he descended the steps of the railway car, he gave the familiar V sign.

DROVE THROUGH PARK

After the welcome by Mayor Inglis, the party followed the mayor press cars—drove through beautiful green Queen Victoria park to the Rock House at the edge of the horseshoe falls.

He had selected bouquet of gladioli, was presented by the princess's daughter by Mrs. Churchill

Between gasps of delight at the sight of the wild green water spilling over the rocky ledge, Mr.

Mary told Mrs. Barton the falls were "perfectly lovely."

With Niagara Falls as a whole apparently unaware of the distinguished visitors, the party drove bridge and along the River road to the Whirlpool. Hardly anyone

World's Only Arab Musher
Not Surprised at Opening Vast Northern Territory

By JOHN D. HAMILTON

He was wearing the Yukon uniform when I saw him first, on the train coming into Edmonton. In case you haven't been "down north" lately, the Yukon uniform (summer issue) consists of a plaid woolen shirt, no tie, whitecuffs

He looked like a prospector on holiday, or a trapper up for the territory. It was the bright lights of eastern Canada. That was just about right for Pete Baker is a member, and a good one, who had driven his debt out of Norman. A couple of jumps from the top of the world.

But he's just about the only Arab in the world.

When Pete told me he was an Arab, not an Assyrian, I was careful to emphasize the distinction. I got a mental picture of a desert, something unwell, and miles of desert. Well, that's just the kind of country Pete came from a quarter of a century ago. He's from Medina, the modern Arabia where the Prophet Mahomet was born 1,300 years ago.

It seemed incongruous indeed that Pete, who was born in the heart and most arid areas of the world, should end up working one of the world's most fertile soils.

HE'S USED IT

He doesn't think an Arab has any right to the oil-rich lands of Saudi Arabia and Yukon territories for so long

"I can keep up with the young fellows on the trail too," Pete said with considerable pride. "I've been 22 years in this north country, and little things like 60 below weather are all in a day's work."

"You look to be about 30 years old, lean and tough. He is dark haired and dark skinned but you country, and little things like 60 below weather are all in a day's work."

Alaska Highway Gas Well No. 1
Impresses Technical Observers

Above is shown Alaska Highway Well No. 1 of the Alaska Highway Oil and Gas Company. 20 miles north of Dawson Creek and 10 miles inside the Alberta border, which has impressed observers with its potentialities.

Brought in on Friday, July 30, and reuniting a close-up area of 600 pounds to the square inch, the Alaska Highway Well No. 1, approximately 22 miles north east of Dawson Creek, has been in production since July 30.

During the trial of Premier H.A. Duggan, the well was in production since July 30.

The gas tested No. 1 B.T.U.'s a cubic foot, which is twice as hot as gas made from coal in Vancouver.

Geologists who have reported on the structure declare that a pipeline to supply Vancouver and other cities is a possibility.

Power Production Reveals Increase

Power production at the city's power plant for the period July 1 to Aug. 8, 1942, totaled 50,523 kilowatt hours compared with 48,000 kilowatt hours for the same period last year, according to a report filed Thursday with the city commission by R. G. Watson, power superintendent. This is an increase of 5.2 per cent.

During the 1942 period the electric light department used 47,700 kilowatt hours of the total production, the street railway system, 2,500 kilowatt hours, and the pumping plant 4,123 kilowatt hours.

First Of Canada's Mighty Lancasters Blazes Trail From Factory To Front • Building Of Giant Bombers Is Outstanding Canadian Production Achievement

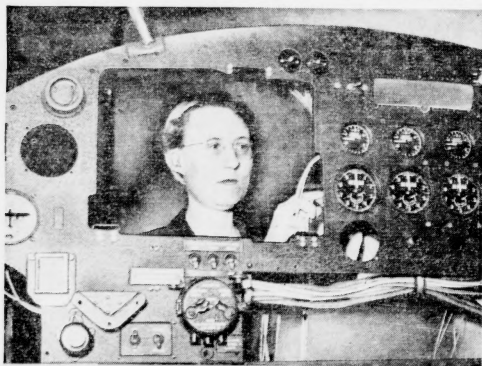

World's largest, fastest, and most devastating heavy bomber, the Lancaster, is being produced in Canada. Here, Bob Burns bores holes inside giant sky bird.

Truly a battleship of the air, the Lancaster has a wingspan of 102 feet. Exclusive of rivets, nuts and bolts, plane has 50,000 different parts, counting engines and turrets as one. Top illustration gives an idea of tremendous task involved in building the Lancaster. In bottom picture, huge 69-ft. fuselage.

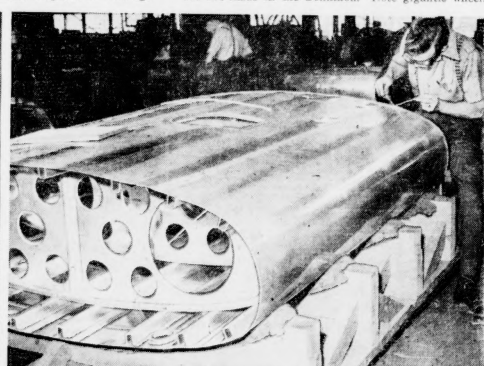

Engines, of which there are four, are famed Rolls-Royce Merlins, only components of Lancaster which are not made in the Dominion. Note gigantic wheel.

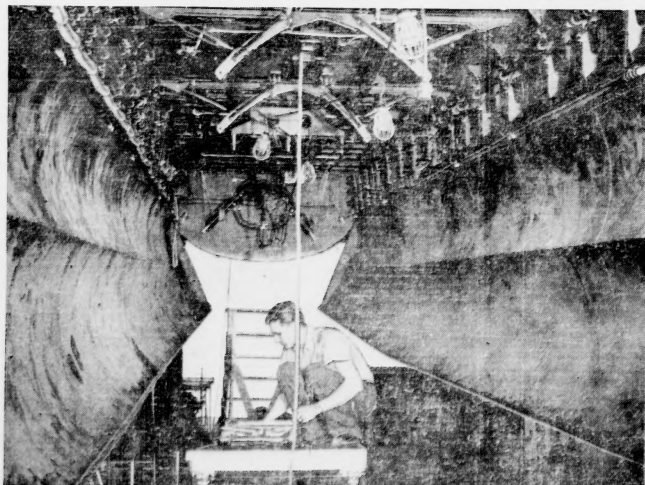

Government-owned Victory Aircraft Limited, Malton, Ont., builds Lancaster. employs 5,000 persons, requires as many more within next year. Plant has million square feet of floor space. Florence Orr wires instrument panel.

Thousands of man-hours are required to put the half-million dollar bomber in the air. Plane is a maze of wiring and tubing. Above, Lola Allen, a riveter.

Alvin Cox, whose brother, Harry, is in the R.C.A.F., welds one of the plane's huge bullet-proof tanks. Lancaster carries six tanks with total capacity of 2,000 gallons. Its maximum speed is 300 m.p.h., maximum range, 3,000 miles.

A Spitfire fighter, minus wings, would fit easily in 33-ft. bomb bay of mighty Lancaster. Maximum bomb load is 8 tons, equal to the weight of 5 automobiles.

First Canadian-built Lancaster was flown yesterday, 16 months from the day blueprints arrived in Canada, a truly outstanding Canadian production achievement.

A Lancaster is brought out of the plant. Harvard trainer in background is dwarfed by mammoth bomber. Switching from production of Ansons to that of the Lancaster presented problems similar to those which would confront a Canadian shipyard required to stop building corvettes and turn out huge battleships.

LAB GIRL

By RENE RYERSON MART

BARBIE tried to jump herself to the flushed-girl in her bedroom mirror. It didn't mean anything. Ken Carter had kissed her and then they laughed, and he had driven her home.

Kissing didn't mean anything to a man like Ken Carter. It was just part of an evening's fun.

"Forget it," she told herself as she sank into the soft bed. "Forget it. It didn't mean anything to him—doesn't mean anything to you, just fun." She drifted off to sleep.

And because the evening with Ken had been fun, she hesitated only slightly when he asked her to dance a few days later.

He was a surprisingly good dancer in spite of his slight cantankerous. They got along famously from the very first down beat. "Like me a little bit?" he asked audaciously as they danced cheek to cheek.

"Uh-huh," Barbie murmured non-committally.

Ken's arms tightened around her. "I could really go for you, baby. In fact, I've been looking for a girl like you ever since I came north."

Barbie thought she saw trouble ahead. "It's awfully warm here. Let's get something cold to drink."

But Ken wasn't easily put off. Across a table he pursued the subject. "You know, I've gone with a lot of girls since I came up here—Barbie could easily believe that. He was the type who attracted girls without effort. She flushed, remembering how she had let him kiss her on their first date.

She brought her attention back to what he was saying. "Maybe I've been unlucky. In most of the girls I've met here so far have."

dearly conscious of an overbearing curiosity. Would he kiss her? He never had, although she was certain he was in love with her. But tonight with that moon overhead and the scent of summer roses heavy on the air?

He didn't. He bid her good night and he went for a brief moment and was gone. She felt frustrated and angry with him and with herself. He wasn't the kind who would kiss a girl—a nice girl, that is—until they were engaged. Charles was a gentleman.

She was too restless to try to sleep. She tried to read, gave it up, and turned on the radio. When a band came on she began to dance slowly by herself. There in the living room dimly lit by the reading lamp, closing her eyes she could imagine she was Ken Carter's arms sweeping and floating in the soft embrace of the moon. Suddenly she stopped and stared blankly in front of her.

Could it be? It couldn't be impossible! Ridiculous!

Most people intend to start the habit of walking each day at some time or other but they keep putting it off. The best time to begin walking is your way to better health.

As bad weather approaches, the tendency is to stay indoors to remain indoors, causing them to miss the benefits from outdoor exercise. No one should permit himself to fall into this trap, for it is just as important to exercise during cold or rainy weather as it is during the sunny days. In fact, more important, for exercise is needed to keep up a good circulation to offset the effect of the cold weather, and the fresh air is excellent for those living in hot, stuffy, closed rooms.

I believe that almost everyone should go for a walk each day regardless of the weather. It is usually possible to wear a light raincoat and rubbers for protection when it is raining and if one walks briskly, there is little need of heavy garments. No matter what you are trying to accomplish in life, you will achieve greater success if you keep yourself feeling fit and walking is a great builder of physical fitness.

One of the most common mistakes made in walking is to walk with the toes pointed outward, as this may encourage weakness of the arches. To gain the greatest efficiency, try to keep the toes pointed straight ahead. Your shoes will be important if you are to keep up with your walking, and must be considered for comfort. Any woman who tries to walk very far on high heels is likely to find this produces an unnatural tiredness of the feet, whereas the same distance could be covered in shoes with lower heels without any fatigue.

At the start, begin by covering only one mile the first day. Gradually increase this distance by walking for one minute longer on each succeeding day. You will probably find the brisk exercise of walking will stimulate you enough so you feel like walking further, but the best plan is to stick to your schedule and to add on only one extra minute regardless of how good you feel. By following this plan you will not develop any noticeable soreness of the muscles such as might occur if you covered too much territory before you have a chance to acclimate the leg muscles to vigorous walking.

As you walk, try to increase the good you are getting by practicing deep breathing exercises part of the way. Try to use the abdominal method in breathing. With a little practice you will discover that you have enlarged your breathing capacity. I find that those with good habits of breathing generally have more energy than those who are shallow breathers. As you walk, keep your posture correct with the head up, chest out to the front and abdomen pulled in.

One of the unexpected dividends of this regular walking is an increase in endurance. You may not believe when you begin, that walking has the power to do much for you in the way of improving your health, but if you can get out there and walk you will discover that the miracle is working for you as it has for so many thousands of others. Those who wish to develop the normal curves of the legs will find these parts becoming more shapely as the walking is continued.

I suggest that you start walking today. Start now and keep it up until you cover at least three miles every day and preferably four or five and are still able to come in feeling refreshed and rejuvenated from top to toe.
